

Erratum: Annual Report on Zoonoses in Denmark 2010

Unfortunately, in the previous electronic edition of Annual Report 2010, we have discovered an error in Chapter 1 Trends and sources in human salmonellosis. The error concerns 20 outbreak-related Salmonella cases that by mistake were attributed to domestic pork. These Salmonella cases were caused by an imported mixed product containing pork and deer, and the cases are now attributed to outbreaks with mixed or unknown source.

Compared to the first web-edition of the report, Figures 1.1 and 1.2, Table A1 and related text have been corrected in this 2nd edition of the web report.

The error has been corrected in this electronic edition but not in the printed edition.
